Metavante Certifies Panini Vision X™ Product Suite

DAYTON, Ohio--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Panini, a distributed capture market leader, today announced they have signed a reseller agreement with Metavante Corporation, a leading provider of banking and payments technology. The agreement enables Metavante to offer Panini's market-leading Vision X™ check scanners to its banking clients for remote deposit and branch image capture.

"Panini's check scanners reliably produce high-quality images and MICR data capture for consistently accurate processing by our distributed capture applications," says Paul Danola, President, Metavante Image Solutions. "The Vision X product suite is now an integral component of a complete Metavante image capture solution."

The Panini Vision X has been certified with Metavante's Direct and SendPoint distributed image capture applications offering customers multiple deployment options in all check image capture environments.

"Metavante's success in the financial services technology market is demonstrated by their extensive customer base," adds Doug Roberts, President, Panini North America. "We are pleased to have the Panini Vision X™ play such an integral role in their solution for remote and branch capture."

Panini is a global leader in providing payment technology innovation. The company's leadership is demonstrated by their dominant market share position and industry recognition.
